

Utah B Charts

Like the example entitled: "Adjustment--One by One," the Utah B charts show the movement of the knowledge verse numbers (also referred to as designators or codes) on the Tree-of-Life columns. These designators include the chapter and book (i.e., 1 Nephi 10:14). The colored blocks represent either a verse number or Moroni 10:34. The legend at the bottom of the first page illustrates this with page references to the verse number locations in Utah B.

To save space, only the thirteen knowledge verse numbers and Moroni 10:34 appear on the pages. Additional tree columns in the final pages provide room for the three remaining adjustments. With these additions, the reader will notice the individual blocks shrink in size--due to the same space limitations.

The first chart example shows the placement of each designator before any adjustments take place. Please note the stair-step arrangement of the verse numbers. This type of alignment of verse numbers occurs in 9 of 10 of the Utah systems (the notable exception is Utah A with no adjustments). In a more complex order, most of the 100 plus Missouri systems use this stair-step alignment in some way. This unique stair-step arrangement is the key to the success of the knowledge verse number adjustments.

What is the purpose of these charts? The aim is to show how Moroni 10:34 moves from a mercy cell in the first chart to the knowledge cell, which fulfills the rule of endings requirement as noted elsewhere on this website.

I do hope Utah B and the two examples in this update help to provide a better understanding of the Tree-of-Life patterns in the Book of Mormon. Feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

All adjustments in the different systems follow this stair-step pattern with some variations in the verse numbers. Some changes are slight; others are not. In the nine Utah systems that adjust, only 28 verse numbers apply out of the 112 available.
